

EDUCATION

FOR LIFE

MESSAGE FROM THE PRESIDENT

The name Hellenic American University reflects the founders' vision of an institution of learning that would embody values of two cultures: the spirit of innovation, reward of merit and pursuit of excellence that are the hallmark of American higher education but also the inventiveness and extroversion that lie at the core of Hellenism. An institution that offers its students a career-relevant, interdisciplinary American education that fosters critical enquiry, creativity and autonomous learning, and equips them to function effectively as professionals in whatever cultural setting, be it Athens or New York, Munich or Shanghai.

The University serves this mission faithfully. With an internationally educated faculty that is passionately committed to teaching. With academic degree programs that reflect the emerging challenges our graduates will meet in their professional and personal lives. And with a richly diverse community of students, who bring to the University an engaging mix of backgrounds, talents and perspectives.

I invite you to learn more about our University and its academic programs and discover how we can help you achieve your educational and professional goals.

EDUCATION FOR LIFE

At Hellenic American College, you'll receive an American university education that will yield returns throughout your professional and personal life. Your studies will equip you not only with the knowledge and skills of your field but also with the critical thinking, problem-solving, communication and research skills that will help you stand out from other degree holders. You'll become an agile, life-long learner who can adapt to new challenges in a rapidly changing world.

in cooperation with

TWO INSTRUCTIONAL LOCATIONS, ONE EDUCATIONAL COMMUNITY

Students at Hellenic American College are enrolled in the degree programs of Hellenic American University, a private, non-profit American university founded in the state of New Hampshire in 2004. In addition to offering its degree programs in Athens through an Agreement of Cooperation with Hellenic American College, the University also operates an instructional location in Nashua, New Hampshire. Students from both locations are taught by the same body of faculty and are awarded their degrees directly from Hellenic American University upon completing their studies and fulfilling their degree requirements.

A DEGREE WITH BROAD RECOGNITION

You'll be investing a great deal of time, effort and resources in your studies. How do you know that the degree you earn from Hellenic American University will be worth this investment?

One way of knowing is accreditation. Hellenic American University is accredited by the New England Commission of Higher Education (NECHE). This means that the education you receive conforms to rigorous standards of quality and is periodically reviewed by independent evaluators. Accreditation also means that the degree you earn from Hellenic American University is accepted by colleges and universities throughout the US and other countries if you decide to continue your studies abroad.

RECOGNITION IN GREECE

As of March 2017, the Greek Ministry of Education and Religious Affairs has begun to grant recognition of professional equivalence of Hellenic American University degrees earned by graduates of Hellenic American College.

AN AMERICAN COLLEGE EDUCATION

Undergraduate studies at Hellenic American College embody the principles of a liberal arts education that is found in nearly every American college and university. It combines focused studies in your chosen degree field and a broad or generalist education with courses in a variety of other disciplines. This approach to learning, embodied in our General Education program, gives you the freedom to explore new fields and cultivate new interests and is especially useful if you haven't yet decided on a field of study.

THE GENERAL EDUCATION PROGRAM

All undergraduate students complete a set of core courses in academic writing, public speaking, information literacy along with electives in the sciences, arts and humanities, social science and foreign languages. The program aims to foster competencies and values such as critical and analytical reasoning, creative problem-solving, ethical reasoning, global learning and intercultural awareness — the kind of transferrable skills that enable you to adapt to change and profit from the opportunities they provide.

STUDENT TESTIMONIAL

“It’s OK to be undecided! I remember when I first began attending Hellenic American College, I couldn’t decide whether to do Psychology or English Language & Literature. But through the GenEd classes I was exposed to different disciplines, which enabled me to pinpoint which one I’d see myself more comfortable pursuing. It was sometime during my second semester that I set my mind on English Language & Literature, after taking a total of 7 GenEd courses. You never know how the flow of a GenEd class might inspire you to choose a discipline that will change the rest of your life.”

Irene Siwale, BAELL ’22

CUSTOMIZE YOUR EDUCATION WITH A MINOR

Each undergraduate program includes a set of 6 elective courses of your own choice. You could devote these electives to specialize within your chosen field or complete a set of interrelated courses called a Minor to meet your needs, interests or talents. Are you an English major with a dream of starting your own school? Complement your B.A. in English Language and Literature with a Minor in Entrepreneurship. A Psychology student with a passion for playing the cello? Use your electives to earn a Minor in Music Performance.

Available Minors include:

- Communication
- Entrepreneurship
- French
- General Business
- Informatics
- Literature
- Music Performance
- Project Management
- Psychology
- Spanish
- Sustainability
- TESOL
- Theater & Performance
- Translation Studies

HANDS-ON LEARNING FOR THE REAL WORLD

FROM THE ASSOCIATE PROVOST

“Students grow in our discussion-based classrooms but thrive outside. It is really the experiences that they gain from various student-faculty research projects, master classes and internships that take them a step further.”

Dr. Themis Kaniklidou
Associate Provost

STUDENT TESTIMONIAL

“My supervising professor in the Practicum taught me how to develop my reflecting teaching practices and her feedback was very helpful to broaden my teaching experience. Generally, the course helped me to be engaged in teaching, observing, and reflecting which are proved to be very useful in my professional development in the future.”

Gkizeri Eleftheria, MAAL '20

Courses at Hellenic American College use an engaging mix of teaching methods, such as case studies, hands-on demonstrations, team projects, research assignments, simulations and lab work. This kind of participatory learning gives you experience in applying the concepts, methodology and tools you learn in class to the real-world challenges you'll encounter in your future field. But learning continues beyond the classroom, too. All degree programs feature opportunities for out-of-class, experiential learning — professional training workshops, master classes, student-faculty research projects, participation in conferences, and field work.

FACULTY MENTORING

Mentoring is an important part of the Hellenic American College experience. When you are admitted to the College, you are assigned a faculty mentor (advisor), usually from your field of study. Your mentor works closely with you as you clarify and plan your educational and career goals, and then identify the skills you need to acquire to meet these objectives. As you progress through your studies, your mentor will help you address problems that might affect your academic performance.

STRENGTHENING YOUR COMMUNICATION SKILLS

You already know that being able to communicate effectively in writing is among the most highly valued professional competencies. Writing assignments is part of nearly every course at Hellenic American College, whether it's a critical essay, lab report, or a research paper. The tutors at the College's Writing Center can provide you with personalized assistance at all stages of the writing process, from planning and composing your paper to revising and editing the text you produce. By the end of your studies, you'll have acquired strong communication skills in the language and confidence as a writer.

SUPPORT FOR YOUR ACADEMIC SUCCESS AND PERSONAL GROWTH

We measure ourselves in terms of our students' success, which is why we provide you with the support you need to do well in your studies and prepare yourself for your future career. As a student at Hellenic American College, you'll find one-on-one help for your written assignments, research projects and study skills, as well as individual assistance on career planning and counseling services.

Just as importantly, with small-sized classes, your faculty mentor and student-centered teaching, you'll receive individual attention to your needs and opportunities to develop your talents and strengths.

A 360° EDUCATION

College is more than just classes, papers and exams. It's also a time of exploration and personal discovery. Here at Hellenic American College, you'll find a broad array of extra-curricular activities, such as clubs, athletic teams, student government and the student literary magazine. The College also hosts a rich program of free cultural events featuring exhibitions, concerts, film screenings and poetry readings.

FROM THE DIRECTOR OF STUDENT AFFAIRS & INTERNATIONAL PROGRAMS

“Student life at Hellenic American College is full of opportunities to cultivate your talents and passions — or discover new ones — and create lifelong friendships. Extra-curricular activities such as clubs, teams and events can be great fun and at the same time an opportunity for personal growth and enrichment. Don't miss the chance to be part of it!”

Dr. Ermioni Karachaliou

Director of Student Affairs and International Programs

HELP IN FINANCING YOUR STUDIES

TYPES OF FINANCIAL AID

Hellenic American College grants various kinds of scholarships:

- Need-based scholarships are awarded to students with demonstrated financial need and who maintain good academic standing.
- Merit-based scholarships are awarded to applicants with exceptional academic achievement, leadership potential or involvement in community service.
- Corporate scholarships are merit-based tuition subsidies awarded to employees of firms and organizations in the College's corporate scholarship program.
- Early admission scholarships are awarded to applicants who meet the University's admission requirements and make an early decision to attend.

For many students and their families, financing a university education can be a source of major concern. But it shouldn't be a deterrent. Hellenic American College admits students on the basis of academic promise and not their ability to pay, and provides scholarship aid to all students with demonstrated financial need. Over 85% of our students receive some sort of assistance.

In addition, we guarantee that the tuition rate in effect when you're admitted to Hellenic American College will remain the same until you graduate. This means you will be protected from any future tuition increases.

FROM THE EXECUTIVE VICE PRESIDENT & CFO

"Hellenic American University was never intended to be a school for the economically privileged but for the academically promising. Its policy of financial aid programs serves this aim of enrolling a diverse and talented class of students — and helping ensure that they can study with us, whatever their financial circumstances."

Dr. Leonidas Tzonis
Executive Vice President & CFO

EDUCATION FOR THE GLOBAL CITIZEN

In an ever more globally connected and multicultural society, today's successful professional is at ease working in culturally and ethnically diverse settings — and appreciates the value of such diversity. Just as today's engaged citizen understands how social, economic, and environmental challenges can only be solved globally but demand at the same time our involvement at a grassroots level.

An education at Hellenic American College prepares you to be such a global citizen. You'll study with young people from around the world and benefit from the rich diversity of their perspectives and backgrounds. Through the College's Politis Program of civic engagement you'll have opportunities for experiential learning and community volunteer work. And your studies will equip you with strong intercultural and communication skills.

A HEAD START ON YOUR CAREER

We believe that developing your job prospects and competitiveness on the job market should start from the first semester of your university studies and not a week before you graduate. The degree programs at Hellenic American College will help you acquire practical experience in the profession through opportunities to do field placements or internships in the field, network with practitioners and attend conferences and training workshops. You'll also have options to prepare for international professional certifications in your field. And you'll find guidance at the Career Development Office (CDO) to make well-informed career choices and take appropriate action throughout your studies. And afterwards, too. As a graduate, you enjoy full use of the services of the CDO but also the networking opportunities, free workshops and mentoring support of a vibrant Alumni Association.

CAREER DEVELOPMENT OFFICE

The Career Development Office at Hellenic American College can help you plan and prepare for your future career through services such as:

- Career counseling to help you identify your strengths, talents and aspirations, and explore career paths that fit your needs.
- Career planning to prepare you to enter and advance in the job market with a strong CV and highly competitive skills.
- If you don't yet have job experience, help in developing a portfolio of projects, field work and volunteer experience that you can show to future employers.
- Access to job vacancies.
- Assistance in putting together your CV and cover letter and preparing for job interviews.

STUDENT TESTIMONIAL

“During a Career Day at Hellenic American college, my dream came true. I found a job as an English teacher at a renowned language school and I've been working there for two very successful years. I am very much indebted to the Director of the College's Career Development Office, who insisted on making an appointment with the language school, although I was still an undergraduate at that time. Had it not been for her insistence, I would not be working in this language school now. I owe her a very big “thank you,” as I do, of course, to all my instructors, whose student I had the honor of being. In retrospect my decision to proceed with my studies seems to have been a wise one.”

VIRTUAL CAMPUS VISITS

If you're unable to visit the campus or are interested in an eLearning program, you can arrange a virtual visit with the Admissions staff online. If classes are in session, you can also sit in on an eLearning class to get a better idea of how our online courses work.

A CAMPUS IN THE HEART OF THE CITY

Hellenic American College is located in downtown Athens, within easy walking distance to many of the city's museums and galleries, theaters, and concert halls. The campus is easily accessible by metro and major bus and trolley lines.

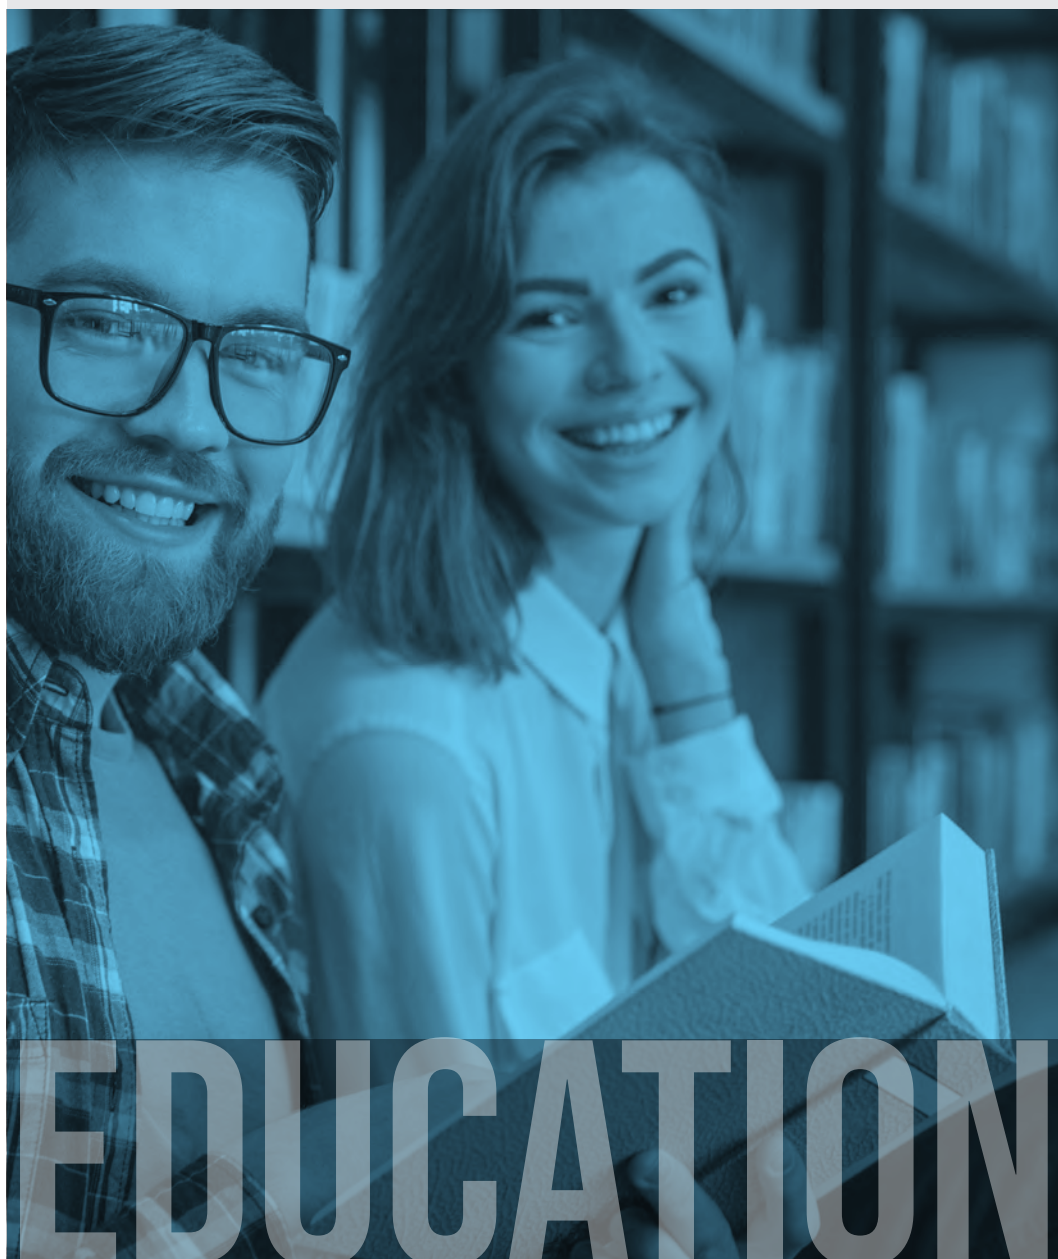

FIND OUT MORE — ARRANGE A VISIT

You can find out more about Hellenic American College and the degree programs and student services on our website at www.haec.gr. But visiting our campus is an even better way to find out more about what it means to study with us. During your visit you could:

- Meet with an Admissions Officer and learn about the academic programs, financial aid and application procedures.
- Tour the campus and have coffee with current students.
- Meet with a faculty member who teaches in the program you're interested in.
- Arrange to attend a class.

To arrange your visit, call or contact our staff in the Admissions Office (T: 210 3680950, email: admissions@hauniv.edu). If you're currently working, we can arrange your visit in the late afternoon or early evening.
